SERVICE SECTOR TRADES
EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

ARE YOU STRUGGLING TO FIND SKILLED TRADES WORKERS?

WHAT ADVICE DO YOU HAVE FOR THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT ABOUT THE APPRENTICESHIP SYSTEM?

HOW CAN OUR COMMUNITY BETTER SUPPORT YOU AS A SKILLED TRADES EMPLOYER?

Workforce Planning Hamilton, a labour market planning organization funded by the Ministry of Training Colleges & Universities, has been asked to consult with employers in Hamilton about their experience finding skilled trades workers. What skilled trades positions are hard-to-fill? How can the skilled trades system be improved?

The following questions are designed to gather your perspective on a range of issues related to the skilled trades. In the pages that follow we have also included a brief profile of the Service Sector Trades with labour market indicators for a listing of the key occupations in this sector as context for these questions.

PLEASE TAKE A MOMENT TO REVIEW THESE QUESTIONS AND BE PREPARED TO DISCUSS.

Number of apprentices/journeypersons

1. Do you currently have fully qualified journeypersons on staff?
2. Do you only hire fully qualified tradespersons?
3. Has your organization sponsored or is currently sponsoring an apprentice?

Hard to Fill

4. What skilled trade positions (journeypersons and apprentices) are hardest for your organization to fill and why?
5. What methods has your organization used to fill those positions?
6. What needs to be done (by employers and/or the Ontario government) to increase the number of apprentices and journeypersons in in-demand trades?

Apprentice completion

7. What has been your organization's experience with respect to apprentices dropping out of their apprenticeship training?
8. In your experience, what are some of the reasons that apprentices leave their apprenticeship, and are there things the Ontario government could do to help them complete?

Group sponsorship

9. Has your organization participated or considering participating in group sponsorship training, whereby two or more employers form a group to sponsor apprenticeship training?
 - 9a. If yes, how important is this approach to addressing your organization's skills requirements?
 - 9b. If no, what support or assistance would your organization need to make group sponsorship training of apprentices a worthwhile option?

Apprenticeship – does it work? Changes?

10. How well has apprenticeship worked as a way of addressing your organization's skill requirements?
11. What barriers, if any does your organization face related to apprenticeship
12. What changes could the Ontario government make to the apprenticeship program to better respond to the needs of employers?

Broader questions

13. How is technological change impacting the skilled trades in your organization?
14. Please describe what you see as the most important issues that are expected to impact the skilled trades in your community over the next five years.
15. Do you have any further comments with respect to apprenticeship and/or the skilled trades?

In Ontario there are 39 Service Sector Trades that are categorized under 27 occupations in the National Occupations Codes (NOC). Service sector trades include a range of trades in various occupations such as: Hair stylists, Chefs and Cooks, Early childhood educators, and Contact Centre Customer Service Agent. In order to align the skilled trades categorization with the NOC we used a program chart produced by the Ontario College of Trades that shows the corresponding NOC for each skilled trade.

In this report we look at skilled trades related to early childhood educators. There are two skilled trades in total: Child development practitioner and Aboriginal child development practitioner. These are grouped into one occupation, Early childhood educators and assistants (NOC 4214). In the chart below we take a closer look at this occupation and key labour market indicators. The five key indicators below give us a sense of the availability of qualified workers for each of these trades occupations.

UNDERSTANDING KEY INDICATORS

Change in employment	Suggests whether the number of workers in this occupation is growing or declining. Growing occupations may have increased demand for workers.
* % Workers over 55 years	Indicates that there may be retirements pending that will increase demand for these workers.
* Unemployment rates	A low unemployment rate suggests that there are few available workers looking for work.
* Change in median income	Increasing income for an occupation can signal increased demand for that occupation.
Number of job postings	Suggests whether the occupation is high demand.

Yellow indicates a trade occupation that has all three major indicators highlighted. The areas shaded with mauve indicate that this occupation is above the average for all occupations. These indicators (indicated with a star in the list above) point to an existing or potential skills shortage. The arrows indicate whether the indicator is greater or less than the average across all occupations.
